Aims of the workshop

Upon the completion of this workshop, trainees should get a good deal with;

1. The meaning of language and linguistics
2. The meaning of Applied Linguistics
3. Some applications of Applied linguistics' branches,
4. Practice more on various topics relevant to Translation and sociolinguistics; the branches of theoretical linguistics as phonology, pragmatics, semantics and syntax.

Sociolinguistics

Sociolinguistics: defined

- A branch of AL aims at identifying the social factors' effect on language use.
- It points out the role linguistic performances construct the socialized identity;
- The identity-based practices construct the speech community ideological; the ideological practices divide the society into groups/classes and layers with definite features/characteristics.

Social Factors

- ☞ Gender: one social factor that shows the differences and/or similarities between male's and female's behaviors. The claim of gender variations is actually performed across the cultural frames of various societies.
- ☞ The question is, Does gender performance is embodied in your context? How? Give examples
